hello — heritage

Old Town Lille is a firm favourite with the tourists: for its cobbled, winding streets, full of charm, and for its luxury and fashion boutiques, historical and architectural heritage, as well as the bars and restaurants.

Lille centre is the city's beating heart, its pedestrian streets buzzing with shoppers. The outdoor cafés and bars of the Grand Place, Place du Théâtre and Place Rihour are where northerners express their sociable and fun-loving side.

The working-class district, Gambetta-Wazemmes, is also popular with the Lillois for its hive of activity and shops. Sunday morning hosts the friendly bustle of the legendary Wazemmes Market.

The area around the train stations and Euralille symbolises the city's exchange and openness to the region, France and Europe. It's also a symbol of Lille's economic drive – business people and executives step off the TGV, Eurostar and trains from Belgium and head into France's third largest business district in France.

Old Stock Exchange

Undeniably the most beautiful place in Lille – a must-see! The quadrangular building dating from 1653 consists of 24 identical houses enclosing an interior courtyard where booksellers, florists, chess-players, tourists, people out for a stroll and even tango dancers meet!

Place du Général de Gaulle, Rue des Manneliers, Place du Théâtre, Rue des Sept Agaches

Palais Rihour

Located on the square of the same name, the Palais Rihour, begun in 1453 under Philippe Le Bon and completed twenty years later under Charles Le Téméraire, is all that remains of the flamboyant gothic palace built by the dukes of Burgundy. On the ground floor the magnificent guard room houses Lille's tourist office. On the first floor, the Conclave Room and the vestry with superb stain-glass windows host events.

The Belfries, UNESCO World Heritage Sites

Lille has seven belfries (the UNESCO listed: Armentières, Comines, Lille City Hall and Loos, and the non listed: Lille Chamber of Commerce, Tourcoing Chamber of Commerce and Wambrechies). These and others in the Nord-Pas-de-Calais region epitomise our destination.

Illustrating a variety of architectural styles, including Romanesque, Gothic and Baroque, twenty-three of these buildings in the Hauts-de-France region have been listed as World Heritage Sites since 2005.

For UNESCO, this classification is an extension to the thirty Belgian belfries that are already listed and were built between the 11th and 17th centuries.

Notre-Dame de la Treille and the Centre for Sacred Art

Built in honor of the Virgin Mary under the name of Notre-Dame de la Treille, Lille's neo-Gothic cathedral was erected from 1856 on the site of a former motte castrale. After many ups and downs, its construction was completed in 1999 with the inauguration of the contemporary-style façade, made of an astonishing translucent marble and adorned with a rose, the work of painter Ladislav Kijno. The crypt is also home to the Centre d'art sacré, with its fine collection of contemporary art.

Paris, Roubaix and Ghent Gates

The monumental Paris gate represents Lille's attachment to France. The triumphal arch was built between 1687 and 1692 by architect Simon Volland at Louis XIV's request, to celebrate his victory during the siege in 1667. Ghent and Roubaix Gates, the remains of Spanish fortifications built between 1617 and 1621 are also worth a visit.

The Citadel

“The Queen of the Citadels” was built between 1667 and 1670 by the Marquis of Vauban, Sébastien Le Prestre, under orders from Louis XIV, following the Sun King’s conquest of Lille and its reattachment to France after 150 years of Spanish occupation. Vauban laid the Citadel’s first stone on 17 June 1668. No less than three million stone blocks, sixty million bricks and seventy million feet of sandstone make up the body of the Citadel, which was built in just three years. Today the heart of the Citadel is closed to the public as it is still used for military purposes: it houses the Rapid Reaction Corps France.

Sanctuary of Sainte-Rita de Vendeville

Classified as a French Sanctuary City on a par with Lourdes or Mont-Saint-Michel, the Sanctuaire Sainte Rita de Vendeville is an unlikely place that attracts 150,000 people every year. The sanctuary, dedicated to Saint Rita, patron saint of hopeless causes, transports you into the mystery of the world. A refuge for those who believe in the impossible, where popular faith is nourished by tales of miraculous cures and divine intervention.

Whether you're a pilgrim or a curious visitor, the sanctuary will not leave you indifferent. Soak up the sanctuary's serene atmosphere and let yourself be inspired by the history and devotion that surround it.

The first traces of beer in Lille date back to the end of the first millennium. Since then, at the heart of this bustling city of commerce and then of industry, beer remains one of the identifying markers that has stood the test of time, until its revival at the beginning of the 21st century. Urban, family-oriented and collaborative, the brewing industry is gaining its credentials through its knowledgeable local craftsmen.

The Lille European Metropolitan Area, in collaboration with thirty-five of the city's breweries, has created "Héritage bière", a label to identify craft breweries offering tourist facilities.

There are three categories for these breweries:

- Reception public
- Guided tour
- Taproom

hello gastronomy

From the authentic cuisine of estaminets to the refined dishes of Michelin-starred restaurants, via creative bistronomy and generously-portioned street food: Lille's chefs offer something for everyone, from a quick bite to Gargantuan hunger.

Lille – street food destination

Gastronomy and street food have never been so popular and it's all down to influencers and cooking shows. Like all major French and European cities, Lille is seeing the emergence of food courts, while young locavore chefs are reinvigorating their cuisine.

The Citadel and the Vauban Garden

The superb 110-hectare wooded park offers endless paths for walking and cycling, areas to relax, and there's even a zoo.

The Vauban Garden next door is a small but perfectly charming English garden, landscaped by Jean-Pierre Barillet-Deschamps, who also designed the Barbieux Park and other Parisian parks and gardens. An unmissable haven of greenery!

East of Lille: The Heron Lakes and Park, Villeneuve d'Ascq

Take a walk close to nature. Runners, walkers and families love it. Visit the natural reserve, the Château, Saint-Jean and Heron Lakes, the Marchenelles hill and the country lanes. The sportiest extend their route over 15kms along the greenways towards Forest-sur-Marque, Willems, Baisieux, Bouvines and Sainghin-en-Mélantois.

Giants' Garden

Inaugurated in July 2009, landscapers from Atelier Mutabilis have created a two-hectare haven of peace on the site of a former car park. Access is through the Parvis des Nuages, or Cloud Forecourt, planted with five bamboo species. Wander through to the Giants' Grass, where clearings and lush vegetation alternate. Continue to the Garden of Springs, and a peaceful stroll through pools and reflections. Euralille's futuristic towers loom over in the background.

Go with the flow, along canals and rivers

When you stroll along the canals and rivers in the Lille area, it's not unusual to stumble across works of art, bridges and footbridges, or locks, water treatment stations, marinas, parks and leisure centres. They reveal the different functions of the city's 100 kms of navigable waterways: commercial and economic use, natural reserves, reclaiming landscapes damaged by former industries, places to unwind and have fun. Go with the flow, on foot or by bike. Take off along the tow paths and discover the river's heritage.

The Marque marshes

Just 15 minutes from the hustle and bustle of Lille, the Marque marshes are unspoilt, hidden natural treasures covering a surprising 144 hectares. The site is made up of three interconnected natural areas: the Fretin, Bonnance and Péronne-en-Mélantois marshes, all of which are crossed by the river Marque. Alone, with family or friends, on foot, by bike or on horseback, it's an enchanting getaway.

The must-see Citadel offers a range of family fun.

The zoo sits next to a playground and fun rides surrounded by nature! How lovely to stroll alongside animals who live in the heart of Lille's green lung. You can even hear the monkeys' cries as you walk around the Citadel.

For the most intrepid, children can let off steam at the City-Parc while parents relax in the outdoor cafés.

Mosaïc Park

Fascinating and vibrant, the Mosaïc Park is a veritable garden of cultures. Come and explore the gardens themed on the five continents. Ten green oases inspired by Lille's diverse population. Awarded "Remarkable Garden", the park displays art works to contemplate throughout your visit. During the summer, everyone can come and enjoy a season of cultural events in a natural setting.

TER (regional train) to Gare de Santes 2km from the park, bikes allowed on the TER.

The Open Air Museum

The lush green landscape of Villeneuve d'Ascq's Open Air Museum houses typical buildings of the Hauts-de-France region. The buildings were saved from demolition and re-purposed to accommodate artists and artisans who perpetuate traditions and pass on their know-how. Come and visit the indigenous animals, medicinal plant garden and get lost in the hedge maze. An unusual walk not to be missed. From April to October the museum holds a series of shows, activities and exhibitions in the open air – a diverse cultural season for everyone.

hello nightlife

Gare Saint Sauveur, the former train station transformed into a cultural venue, opens its Bistro St So every weekend until midnight. Enjoy another corner of the Flanders capital while having a dance.

Or lose yourself in rue Royale and rue Saint-André in Old Town Lille, which remains one of the most popular areas, bustling with restaurants and bars, where the locals enjoy staying out until late. It's touristy while retaining a warm and vibrant vibe. Just like the Grand Place where you can grab a drink.

If you're a party animal you'll love rues Masséna and Solférino, also known as the "rues de la soif" (the thirst streets). This hot spot of student nightlife is bursting with bars, night clubs, pubs, cocktail bars and events spaces with varied programmes.

Another district to get to know if you like to go out in the evening in Lille is Wazemmes. Around the famous Halles, which during the day is home to gourmets and local craftsmen, come and find terraces and bars that are welcoming and unpretentious in the evening.

Finally, hop on a v'lille and ride along the Deûle from the citadel to Saint-André-lez-Lille, where a former spinning mill is home to a brasserie, an indoor games hall (arcades, bowling, restaurants) and a food court!
